The Late Reconncissance to Dalton,

Full and Interesting Particulars.

Trnnel Hill, Ga., Feb. 26. To better understand the objects and com-prehend the policy of the demonstration or reconnoissance in force of the 14th corps, under Gen. Palmer, in the direction of Dalto Ga., n true record of which I chall attempt this, it will not perhaps be inapposite or ill-timed to preface the story of the expedition with a succinct resume of the position and condition of the armies of the Department of the Mississippi, the tasks before them, and the re-

OUR GRAND CORDON Begins at Knoxville on the left. The Army Begins at Knoxville on the left. The Army of the Ohio, under Burnside, moving simulteneously with Rosecrans in the Chattanooga campaign, wrested from the enemy in this a point, which, in importance, as evidenced in the wail that weut un when its abandonment was known in the Sonth, and by the desperate and almost fatal efforts to regain it, which lost to the Confederacy, by the detechment of Longetreet from Eracg, the advantages echieved at Chickamauga, was second only to Chattanooga itself. Chickamauga imperilled the Army of the Cumberland, even behind the works at Chattanooga. This even behind the works at Chatlauooga. This doned. To render secure and useful the one, the andacious enemy that looked down upon us from the heights of Missionary Ridge and Lookout Bonnisin, commanding river and railroad communication, and even casting with impunity his missiles into the city and the works, must be disloaged.

The etruggle at Missionary Ridge, while it gered garrison, and, as was supposed, re-deemed East Tennassee. Longatreet, unsac-cessful in his ferocious onsets against our works, learning of the advance of the victors were firmly established. Reinforced, with a pertinacity and daring that all but rendered bonorable his cause, he pressed back, and again lays siege to the much coveted prize. COMMUNICATION ENDANCERED.

The presence of so powerful a force, led by so shrewd and subtle nn enemy, rendered it imperative that the question of possession should be decided, either by giving the beleaguerer battle at once, or by distracting onr fees by important movements against their left.

Memphis is next in line. At Vicks burg, far to the right, lay troops that migh be employed in extending our possessions and encompassing the last powerful rehal stronghold on the gulf at Mobile. A SUITABLE LEADER.

Sherman, whose successful march across ties for provisioning and maneuvring an army unattended by supply trains, was selected as a leader for an army that should move with celerity directly through the enemy's country, cut his communication, and levy on the pooole for its subsistence.

MOVEMENTS OF THE ENBMY. As was anticipated, the hurried and victorious advance of Sherman, who, within five days from the time his columus were in motion, occupied Jackson, Miss., incited the Southern people and their leaders with the profoundest fears, and turned their every engage to the core work of opposing the investment. ergy to the one work of opposing the invad-EFFECT ON THEIR ARMIHS UNDER JOHNSTON AND

While in the North, where the sword and orch have not sent sorrow to families and id waste the land, the people, revelling in Anxuries that wealth secures, and grateful he memory of those who gave them a nimeut that would protect and foster i dness were reciprocated, celebrated on the anniversary of the birth of the whose sword and mind the nation et indebted for its liberties, Americans in cganstrebellion were marching to engage country's enemies. A light zure haze fed the atmosphere, and mellowed the sunlight of the morning. There was not breeze enough to stir the faintest wail among the plue groves of Chickamauga. It was our Northern Indian summer, whose home is in the Sonth. A balmier, more tranquil morning never inspired the genins of a poet. Read said of its like,

"The day so mild Is Heaven's own child To earth and oceau reconciled." THE ADVANCE

Was taken by Gen. King's brigade of Gen. R. W. Johnson's division. This division was followed by Gen. Balrd, with Van Daveer's and Heye's brigades. The troops cerried three days' rations in their haversacks.

THE FLANKS Were protected by Col. Harrison's 39th Indiand mounted infantry on the left, who broke camp at Tyner's Station on the morning of the list, encountering the enemy's cavalry, whom he drove before him, losing but one man wounded. Col. Boone, of the 28th Kentneky, with his regiment and the 2d Kentneky cavalry, commanded by Lientenant-Colonel Watts, crossed Taylor's Ridge at Wood's Gap, and pressed the enemy back on our right... Gen. King, with a small vanguard of cavalry, entered Ringgold, drove out the rebel vedettes, occupied the crests of the abntting ridges, and threw his pickets along the road hat circles the eastern base of White Oak

It is in contemplation now to repnir at once the railroad from Chattanooga to Ringgold. Should it become desirable when the army advances to lessen the distance that supply rains must travel to be reloaded for the fron (a thing not improbable), then, as in the case of the destruction of the depot buildings at Dechard, Tenn., last summer, we shall very greatly need the buildings to shelter our bread.

THE TOWN ABANDONER. This place, I am informed, was once one of the most flourishing and weelthiest little country seats in Northern Georgia. It then contained, I presume, a population of six or eight hundred. Now there are but two or three families, and they have scarcely food a grant to sustain them.

This was as lovely a morning almost as that of yesterday. The night, as comports with the climate, was stinging cold, and, though the amosphere at sunrine was not unpleasantly raw, the pires glitter i under a frosty mantle as though jewelled by some magic hand.

A LATE START.

Col. The other day our scours, dressed in rebel uniform, were riding about between Hunts-vila and the Tennessee river, when they ac-co ted a rather sharp-looking boy of twentyfive, with a baby's face. Innocence was pic-tured in his profile. He had kindly consented to curry in a basket of eggs from a lady in the country to one of her Pederal friends in the city, and was on his way thither. The couts, who well knew the country and the inhabitants for thirty miles about, gave the egg man to understand that they were round of the scouts was well acquainted (over the call) with the friends of the gentleman who have the detached extracts of that bird called the hen, and inquired as to their welfare. A pleasant reply was had. The egg man was among his friends. He unbosomed himself. He was a rebel citizen spy, and was coming to Hnntsville to find the exact location of the might be procured. He gave the ecouts the exact condition of the troops as they were one week ago, their regiments, numbers, commanders, etc. But he had heard of a change being made. When satisfied of this latter, he had an accomplice on the other side of the river to whom he reported the discov-eries made, after which said accomplice was to start with the information to the near-est rebel post. The spy was entreated to re-turn and bring his friend from across the river that he might be better able to see things with his own eyes. This was assented to. The egg man made a motion, and the accomplice egg man made a motion, and the accomplice obcycd. Crossing the river, he appeared within our lines and represented himself as a refagce running away from the conscription. When everything was safe and the birds caged, they were politely informed that the very affable and accommodating Capt. Gillett, Provost Marshal, wished to have a chat with them. The true condition of affairs flashed upon their minds, and, quietly submitting, they made a forward movement. The public-spirited citizens and military authorities are to have a graud hall this evening, at the linusville House, in commemoration of Washington's birthday. Under the management of such distinguished gentlemen as Hon. James S. Shanklin, Hon. Jerry Clemens, Col. R. C. Wever, Capt. Joel, Capt. Gillett, and others, the affair will undoubtedly be worthy their best and united efforts. The beauty of the city will lend their charms and accomplishments on this occasion, to make it

THE GREAT ESCAPADE FROM THE LIBBY, orable and upright men, could gera have spect. She slammed the door when she saw a Federal officer coming, and shut the blinds lest she should gaze upon such hated objects. Military law is necessity, and as such, some of the efficers thought it necessary to occupy a portion of the house occupied by Mrs. R. and her daughter. They yielded to the new comcra reluctantly. Still the doors were slammed against their bouse neighbors and the blinds shut. Military necessity claimed the whole building, and the ladies occupying a portion of it were rerved with a notice to quit. Then commenced pleading and entreating. The poverty of Jeff Davis's kingdom was graphically described, and the fair ones wished to know how ladies could live insuch a forsaken and descrited land. WEDNESDAY, MARCH 2, 1864

It turns out that the telegraph the other day omitted a couple of important clauses in the call for a national convention of the radicals, the call being addressed in fact to "all qualified voters who desire the unconditional maintenance of the Union, the snpremncy of the Constitution, and the complete suppression of the rebellion, with the cause thereof, by vigorous war, and all apt and efficient means." The clauses dropped by the telegraph go very far to acquit the call of the accusation of hypocrisy that we made in noticing the telegraphic report. We accordingly hasten to make all proper acknowledgments to the national committee of the radicals. If anybody not a revolutionary nbolitionist attends the Baltimore Convention, and shall be kicked out into the street for his paius, he will have nothing but his own stupidity to blame. The cull is plain enough.

In the mean time, the whole or n large portion of the ferees that combined against him can go and make themselves powerfully felt in important fields of action.

We rejoice at the much which Gen. Smith and his forces were able to accomplish, but it is impossible to say what all the consequences of his repulse may be. We suppose that his strong body of veteran cavnlry has been a portion, and perhaps an important portion, of South. As he probably cannot go forward, Sherman may find himself, in his great exigency, without the cavalry that he absolutely needs. It is true that the rebel papers of themselves during the present war, Georgin speak of Sherman's having had a powerful cavalry force in his rapid advance command to avert the consummation of her defeat as after it? ruin. Forces from Lee's army, forces from Johnston's, forces from Beauregard's, forces from Savannah and Mobile, and forces from various other quarters, can concentrate rapidy against him, and, while we have the deepest and most abiding confidence in his skill and energy and fertility of resource, wo cnnnot but feel deeply and even painfully aaxious for his situation. What his plaus may be we know not. Perhaps none except himself know. We hope that the military authorities at Wnshington don't know. Of course he does not contemplate remaining motionless for any great length of time at any point in Alabama or Georgia, unless indeed he shall take possession of Mobile or Savannah. And even then he would not think of remaining stationsry with the whole of the glorious army that rejoices in him as its leader.

KENTUCKY IN DIXIE .- Our roaders are aware | spirators against the Union, being a member that an election was held last month for Rep- of the secret Congressional clique, which, duresentatives to the rebel Congress for Ken- | ring the Buchanan administration, engineered tucky. The voting was done by general staid there to play the spy and to promote in ticket, and about one thousand voters elected | all ways the interests of disunion, and then the twelve members, or about 831/2 between resigned and went home, exchanging each favored Representative and his antagonist. The result of this noble exhibition of the elective franchise will fill a proud page in history, and we therefore append it for preservation:

8: Hardiu..31:

In the Second District we miss the name of John W. Crockett; in the Sixth George P. Hodge is superseded by one of the Burnetts; and in the Eighth our oleaginous friend, Humphrey Marshall, has ousted S. S. Scott, while Willis B. Machen, Henry E. Read, Geo. W. Ewing, James S. Crisman, H. W. Bruce, E. M. Bruce, and John M. Elliott have been re-elected. In the first robel Congress Kentucky had eleven members; now it appears she is entitled to twelve; but Dr. Robert J. Breckinridge, Jr., has been left out in the cold, having represented the Tenth lust year, while some one who delights in the name of Bradley takes his place. The terrible effects of a triangular contest are visible in the Second District; for if Triplett and Dennis had joined their forces to the number of 466, Morris could have been defented by 15 majority. Whether the rebellion has gained or lost by this, we shall not pretend to decide. It is noticeable that opposition begins to spring up against the original members of the Conneil of Ten who constituted the Provisional Government of Kentncky, and declared our State free and independent from the United States at the celebrated Russellville Convention. William E. Sims and Henry C. Burnett are snugly ensconced in the rebel Senate at present, and cannot be reached. In a very short time there will be a great change of opinion among the rebel rank and file as to the putriotism, ability, and valor of these men, who will feel exceedingly anxious to make the tour of Europe, while their dupes will tell them, tauntingly, as the Cardinal Richelieu said to the first valet de chambre of Louis XIII.: You are pale, dear Beringhsu—this air Sliep not sour delicate trame; I have long thought so; Sleep not another night in Paris: 30— Or else your precious life may be in danger. > There is no use in trying to cover up the fact that the whole affair was a miserable piece of business. "Somebody blundered." Where the main or the whole responsibility rests, we may perhaps know better herenfter than we do now. But very likely we shall never know much about it. A letter from St. Augustine, Florida, > mentions that Senator Yulee has never held office under the Confederate Government, nor in the State Government of Florida since she seceded, and that he therefore comee within the terms of the Amaesty Proclamation. From what people hear of ex-Senator Yulce, they would not be at all surprised if he were to attempt to nvail himself of some such plea as this. And yet it would be a most impudent and shameless proceeding. He was one of tho busiest and most zealous of the original conthe character of disguised rebels for the less > detestable character of undisguised ones. The New York Times says that among the letters recently found in the bonses of leading rebels at the South was one from Yulee, written from Washington early in January, 1861, saying that, upon consultation, the secession members had decided to remain in Congress as long as poesible, in order to defeat measures that might be brought forward against the rebellion-snch as raising troops, making loans, &c., &c. The whole of them were as villninous trnitors as ever suffered treason's penalties.

NEW YORK, March 1. The Richmond Examiner says now that Sherman's force is dispersed or withdrawn, there appears to be but little anxiety as to anything Farrsgut may accomplish.

Telegraphic Despatch.

What does the Richmond organ mean? Sherman's force may, to be sure, be "withdrawn," but, if so, wo venture to say, that it has been withdrawn from one point only to occupy another and a more important one. As to its being "dispersed," that's bald-headed nonsense. There has been no battle to disperse it. And would an army of thirty-five or forty thousand men, led by Wm. T. Sherman, voluntarily disperse and scatter in the heart of the rebel Confederacy, hundreds of miles from any Federal camps? We think that the telegraph agents might be better employed than in insulting and degrading heaven's lightning by sending it to bear such messages. It is stated that Col. Forrest, brother of the rebel General, was killed in the late fight with Gen. Smith. If the General himself were killed, we certainly ehonldn't curse the dead, but we might feel like excluiming, "God bless the bullet."

We do not see any particular nse of giving swords to General Grant and General Sherman. They seem to be doing well enough with the ones they have got. The Richmond Enquirer says that Jeff Davis's health is improving, and that his digestion is good. We guess that most of the rebels have more digestion than victnals. Most of the Republican papers at tempted to justify the Florida expedition as soon as they learned that it was in progress.

They didn't wait for the result to justify it.

Woon's THEATRE. - Miss Jennie Hight will change her programme this evening and appear in the operatic drama of the Child of the Regiment, and in the protean farce of In and Out of Place, with one of her finest dances. Whatever character she appears in, she seems to be never "out of place." Despite bad wenther, Ler houses have been good, and despite cold weather her reception has been warm and flattering. She is deserving of the most liberal patronage.

FEDERAL COURT.—The case of Mr. W. Gregory, charged with harboring rebels and otherwise giving nid and comfort to the enemy, was brought before the Court yesterday. It will be remembered that Mr. Gregory was tried last week and found guilty, when his connect moved for another hearing of the case. It was argued yesterday, and overruled by the Court. The penalty under the statute for this offence is a fine of not more than $10,000, or ten years' imprisonment. In consideration of its being the first offence, and other palliating circumstances, the Judge fixed the fine at the moderate snm of $100 and The effect of the statute also liberates party liable to confiscation. Upon taking the President's oath of amnesty, Mr. Gregory was released from the fine of $100, and the costs of the suit were all that was imposed noon him by the Court. IMPORTANT ARREST .-- It will be remembered hat on Tuesday of last week the prisoners in he Frankfort, Ky., jail, broke out, aud most of them made good their escape. Among hese prisoners were Perry Taylor, a notori-ous thief, and John Andereon, with perhaps half a dozen aliases attached for convenience sake. Anderson is no doubt an adept in thievery, as is also Taylor. These two celeb-rities were seen in New Albany, on Monday, and immediately officers Smith, Rager and Kendle, of that city, devised a plan for their arrest, which proved successful. About eight o'clock Monday night the thieves were overhauled on the Silver Creek bridge, between New Albany and Jeffersonville, having learned that the police were on their track, and deter-mined, it possible, to get into a more quist neighborhood. They were placed in juil to await the necessary authority for their trans-fer to their old quarters at Frankfort. Taylor was under sentence to the Kentncky peniten-tiary at the time of his escape. The arrest

Mr. Knapp, of Illinois, opposed, and Mr. Price, of Iowa, advocated the bill.

A message was received from the Senate, that the Committee of Conference on the whiskey bill, had heen unable to agree.

Mr. Wassalume of Illinois offered a reco. Mr. Washburne, of Illinois, offered a resolution that the House insist on its disagreement to the Senate's amendments, and that he House request another Committee of Con-erence, and that the House hereby declares as its judgment, that, in the adjustment of the differences, there should be an additional tax of not less than 20c, or more than 40c per gallon on spirils on hand.

Mr. Washburne's resolution was adopted Yeas 76; nays 67.
The consideration of the reculmen's bill was resumed, and atter debate, was passed by two najority. Mr. Pendleton, of Onio, moved the House recede from its disagreement. Negntive? 43 against 78. Adjourned. Washington, March 1.

As some controversy exists in Tennesses concerning the test oath prescribed by Gov. Johnson in his late proclamation, and as questions have been raised as to its incompatibility with the President's amnesty proclamation, it is proper to say that it is known in Washington beyond any doubt that the President and Governor Johnson are in perfect accord in the matter of providing for an election in that State with the view of rester. ction in that State, with the view of restor-z Tenneesce to her former position in the tion, and the President does not censider ne Governor's form of oath in the qualificaon of voters as incongruous with that which himself prescribes to be taken as preliminary pardon. But rather as an oath, which should be respected and eoforced. Of this fact there is reason to believe the citizens of Tennessee will he duly informed. The bill supplementary of the lonn act, having passed both Ilcuses, now only awaits the President's approval to become lnw. It is the eame as published, with addition that conpons of registered bonds for 200,000,-000 loan redeemable at plensure of the govnment, after any period not less than five years from date, and payable not more than forty years from date, are to be paid in coin. It is understood to be the purpose of the government to issue five per cent honds payable in forty years, but after twenty years the principal to he paid in gold. gentlemen who have stood so deservedly high among us, we must congratulate the mer-chants of Louisville upon this acquisition to their ranks. As to who may be their "Co." we are not advised, but feel warranted in saying, from the company in which we find him, that he is a gentleman and all right. We commend this new house to the trade and to the kind offices of our Louisville friends, amongst whom they have taken up their residence, and wish them the success they so The Dayton (Ohio) Journal says that a private despatch received in that city on Friday, from Lebanon, says that Mrs. Thomas Corwin was believed to be dying.
